

Rocking Around The Christmas Tree

If traditional and tinsel is your go-to Christmas tree décor, think again. This year's tree trends are 'big and bold' according to Steph Briggs, Interior Designer and MD of Gifts & Interior Store La Di Da; As Steph explains, the most fashionable Christmas trees this year will be wearing the perfect blend of contemporary and kitsch this year;

We've seen a multitude of Christmas tree decoration trends over the past few years. Block colour scapes (single colour throughout), 70's rock glam (glitter balls and chunky thick metallic tinsel swathes) and traditional (wooden, hand-carved, Scandinavian). This season, colourful kitsch is in with sleek modern styling.

Birds are a big trend this year, from motifs through to ornaments, wallpaper and prints. On the catwalk this autumn, feathers were everywhere so expect to see our feathered friends nesting happily in our Christmas trees this year. Go for exotic and fun to tick this trend. Yes, we love Robins, but who doesn't want a parrot, flamingo or toucan on their tree?!

Big & Bold

Go big or go back in the loft. Think more rather than less when it comes to dressing your tree this season. Make a bold statement with plenty of adornment. These jewelled insects look simply stunning on their own and add a fresh modern twist to traditional Christmas decorations.

Let Me Be Your Fantasy

Christmas is a magical time for little ones, so let your imagination run wild with prancing circus ponies, prowling Indian tigers and majestic giraffes. Lots of embellishment and glitter to delight and excite.

Go For Gold

Silver has been a strong story, but this season antique gold rules. These Partridges, apples and pears are beautiful when teamed with classic warm toned fairy lights. Ideal for a tree situated in a more traditional setting.
