Whatever The Weather

According to *one survey, us Brits spend the equivalent of four and a half years talking about the weather!

Now, British footwear brand, Yull give us something else to chat about with their new autumn/winter collection inspired by (you guessed it) the weather!

Rainbows, rain clouds, lightning strikes and a brief glimpse of the sun all feature across their 'meteorology inspired' collection of footwear. From classic plush velveteen smoking slippers TO leather brogues and heeled boots, Yull's playfulness for colour is evident with their panelled brogues and bright block-coloured heels on their ankle boots.

Tread grip soles on their industrial fashion lace-up boots, the Chepstow and Orkney styles, ensure you keep a grip on the ground as well as your fashion.

The collection champions a kaleidoscope of colour from sunshine yellow teamed with metallic, primary red, blush pink, black and jade and a hint of Harris tweed and tartan transform black from boring to bang on-trend.

And the forecast for the season ahead? It's looking variable with bright spells, scattered weather patterns and isolated thunderstorms.
