

In A Lather

These beautiful French soaps are not only your sweet-smelling defender against the daily battle against dirt and grime but your eco-warrior in the struggle to create a plastic-free bathroom.

A Swiss study* concluded that traditional bar soaps could have a more positive impact on our environment than liquid soap given that liquid soap needs five times more energy to produce and uses twenty times more packaging.

Most liquid soaps are also made from petroleum-based chemicals and packaged in plastic. These 125g soap bars incorporate a range of natural ingredients and are vegan-friendly, cruelty-free, paraben and silicone-free and wrapped in a brown paper bag for transport making them a 'lather' good buy.

Get yours via certified plastic-free business champion, British retailer La Di Da Interiors.
